SEAN F. McAVOY, CLERK

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

MARK WORTH,

Petitioner,

v.

STATE OF WASHINGTON,

Respondent.

No. 2:23-CV-00101-MKD

ORDER DISMISSING ACTION
WITHOUT PREJUDICE

On April 12, 2023, Petitioner filed a document titled, "Notice of Criminal Appeal," ECF No. 1, which the Court liberally construed as a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus by a State Prisoner pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254, ECF No. 6 at 1. Petitioner is a prisoner at the Washington State Penitentiary. On April 27, 2023, he paid the $5.00 filing fee to commence this action.

By Order entered May 5, 2023, the Court directed Petitioner to complete and file a form Petition Under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 for Writ of Habeas Corpus By a Person in State Custody within thirty (30) days to proceed with this action. ECF

1 No. 6 at 3, 8. The Court instructed Petitioner that he is required to demonstrate he 2 has fully exhausted each ground for federal habeas corpus relief he presents to the 3 Court. ECF No. 6 at 3.

4 On June 2, 2023, Petitioner filed a Motion for Extension of Time and 5 attachments consisting of 329 pages. See ECF No. 7. He seeks an additional 30
6 days to file a federal habeas corpus petition. ECF No. 7 at 2. For the reasons set 7 forth below, the Court finds that it is appropriate to dismiss this action without 8 prejudice and to deny the motion for extension of time as moot.

9 A. Timeliness

10 In the Court's May 5 Order, it questioned whether Petitioner's filing was 11 timely under the Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act, 28 U.S.C. §
12 2244(d). See ECF No. 6 at 5-7. Petitioner submitted numerous documents along 13 with his motion for extension of time. See ECF No. 7. It no longer appears to the 14 Court that a federal habeas corpus petition would be untimely. Rather, it appears 15 from Petitioner's statements regarding his direct appeal and state collateral
16 proceedings, ECF No. 7 at 3-4, that a federal habeas corpus petition under 28
17 U.S.C. § 2254 is premature.

18 In his Motion for Extension of Time, Petitioner clarifies that the Washington 19 State Supreme Court denied direct appellate review on May 4, 2022. ECF No. 7 at 20 3. Petitioner is correct that a prisoner must seek federal habeas relief within one

1 year after direct review concludes or the time for seeking such review expires. 28
2 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1)(A). However, any concern that he had only one year after 3 May 4, 2022, to file a federal habeas corpus petition seems to be misplaced.

4 The period of limitation usually commences when the criminal judgment 5 becomes final under state law; specifically “the date on which the judgment 6 became final by the conclusion of direct review or the expiration of the time for 7 seeing such review[.]” 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1)(A). “[T]he period of ‘direct 8 review’ . . . includes the 90-day period within which a petitioner can file a writ of 9 certiorari with the United States Supreme Court, whether or not the petitioner 10 actually files such a petition.” Bowen v. Roe, 188 F.3d 1157, 1158–59 (9th Cir.
11 1999). Petitioner does not advise that he filed a petition for a writ of certiorari.
12 Presuming that he did not, the federal limitations period would not have begun to 13 run until August 3, 2022.

14 The one-year statute of limitations is tolled for the period “during which a 15 properly filed application for State post-conviction or other collateral review with 16 respect to the pertinent judgment or claim is pending.” 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(2); 17 see Artuz v. Bennett, 531 U.S. 4, 8 (2000) (holding that a state habeas petition is 18 “‘properly filed’ when its delivery and acceptance are in compliance with the 19 applicable laws and rules governing filings”); Pace v. DiGuglielmo, 544 U.S. 408, 20 413-15 (2005) (holding an untimely state postconviction petition was not “properly

1 filed,” within the meaning of the statutory tolling provision of AEDPA). Petitioner
2 has indicated that a Personal Restraint Petition he filed on August 18, 2021, is still 3 pending, as is a state habeas corpus petition he filed on April 28, 2023. ECF No. 7
4 at 3. Therefore, the federal limitations period appears to have already been tolled 5 under 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1). The Court makes no findings as to whether these 6 were properly filed, however.

7 If the federal limitations period was tolled on August 18, 2021, the one-year
8 limitations period would not have begun running on August 3, 2022, and it will not 9 begin to run until the Washington State Supreme Court issues its final ruling
10 concerning Petitioner’s Personal Restraint Petition. Indeed, the federal limitations
11 period may be further tolled if the state courts determine that Petitioner’s state
12 habeas corpus petition was also “properly filed” on April 28, 2023. See Pace, 544
13 U.S. at 417.

14 B. Exhaustion

15 Petitioner has indicated that several claims that he would include in a federal 16 habeas corpus petition have not yet been exhausted and he wishes to “preserve all 17 [his] grounds for this Court to review.” ECF No. 7 at 6. Because the federal 18 limitations period does not appear to have commenced and Petitioner has 19 admittedly not exhausted all of his state court remedies concerning grounds he 20 wishes to present, the Court finds it appropriate to dismiss the present action

1 without prejudice in order for Petitioner to fully exhausting his claims. This 2 renders Petitioner's Motion for Extension of Time, ECF No. 7, as well as any 3 request to stay these proceedings, moot.

4 C. Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus Generally

5 Petitioner must be mindful that before a federal court will consider the 6 merits of a Petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254, the 7 petitioner must demonstrate that each and every claim in the petition has been 8 presented for resolution by the Washington Supreme Court. A state prisoner must 9 exhaust state Supreme Court remedies with respect to each claim before petitioning
10 for a writ of habeas corpus in federal court. 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(1)(A); Roettgen
11 v. Copeland, 33 F.3d 36, 38 (9th Cir. 1994); see Granberry v. Greer, 481 U.S. 129, 12 134 (1987). The exhaustion requirement protects the role of state courts in 13 enforcing federal law, prevents the disruption of state judicial proceedings, and 14 gives the state's highest court the opportunity to examine and vindicate a right of 15 federal constitutional magnitude. Rose v. Lundy, 455 U.S. 509, 518-20 (1982).

16 A claim is considered exhausted when it has been fully and fairly presented 17 to the state Supreme Court for resolution under federal law. Anderson v. Harless, 18 459 U.S. 4, 6 (1982). Moreover, a petitioner seeking relief must have presented 19 each claim to the state Supreme Court based upon the same federal legal theory
20 and the same factual basis asserted in the federal petition. Picard v. Connor, 404

1 U.S. 270, 275-76 (1971). It is only then that the exhaustion requirement of 28
2 U.S.C. § 2254 is fulfilled. Id.; Hudson v. Rushen, 686 F.2d 826 (9th Cir. 1982)
3 (citing Schiers v. People of State of California, 333 F.2d 173 (1964) and Blair v.
4 California, 340 F.2d 741 (9th Circ. 1965)).

5 Petitioner is again reminded that the United States District Court for the 6 Eastern District of Washington is not a Court of Appeals. If Petitioner wishes to 7 appeal a decision of the Washington State Supreme Court, then he must do so in a
8 timely fashion to the United States Supreme Court. See Noel v. Hall, 341 F.3d
9 1148, 1154-55 (9th Cir. 2003); see Verizon Maryland, Inc. v. Pub. Serv. Comm’n
10 of Maryland, 535 U.S. 635, 644 n.3 (2002) (“The Rooker–Feldman doctrine 11 merely recognizes that 28 U.S.C. § 1331 is a grant of original jurisdiction, and 12 does not authorize district courts to exercise appellate jurisdiction over state-court 13 judgments, which Congress has reserved to this Court[.]”); 28 U.S.C. § 1257(a).

14 Petitioner should be mindful of the one-year period of limitations set forth in 15 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d). In any future habeas corpus petition he may choose to file in 16 this Court, Petitioner should consider that it is the decision of the state appellate 17 court, rather than the ministerial act of entry of the mandate, that signals the 18 conclusion of review. See Wixom v. Washington, 264 F.3d 894, 897-98 (9th Cir.
19 2001).

1 Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED:

2 1. This action is DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE as 3 unexhausted and premature.

4 2. The Motion for Extension of Time, ECF No. 7, is DENIED as moot.

5 3. The Court certifies that any appeal from this decision could not be 6 taken in good faith, and there is no basis upon which to issue a certificate of 7 appealability. 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c); Fed. R. App. P. 22(b). A certificate of 8 appealability is therefore DENIED.

9 4. The Clerk's Office shall file this Order, ENTER JUDGMENT, 10 provide copies to Petitioner, and CLOSE this file.
